about nature.

quality & safety assurance

At the heart of our operations, our people must have a strong focus on the quality of our projects and executing it safely. This is where our quality and safety assurance office comes in. They are the drivers of sharing best practices and educating our people, and play the enforcement role so that our sites are audited regularly. This is a core part of our organisation as our people must always continue to deliver the standards that we have maintained and exceed our client's expectations whenever we can.

sustainability & organic practices

We understand the importance of plant health and take sustainable steps to reduce environmental impact while maintaining landscaping excellence. We exercise a wide-range of organic practices and constantly look for innovative ways to reduce chemical use and waste. We have been part of some of the most exciting green building projects like Kampung Admiralty, Oasis Terraces and New Futura.

a quick guide to plant maintenance

water

- ✓ Before watering, check that the plant media is moist. If it is moist, no further watering is required.
- ✓ In general, plants require watering on a regular basis. However, all plants are different, there is no specific frequency that works for all.
- ✓ As a rule of thumb, the soil should not be bone-dry or fully soaked.

- ✓ Light is one of the key food source for plants.
- ✓ The area where your plant is located at determines its growth. Florenscent lights can works as an alternative for some plants, if you can't get direct sunlight.
- ✓ Light levels for different types of plants:

leafy foliage
thrives on indirect
sunlight

variegated foliage
require more light
to maintain its color

flowering plants
require a small amount of direct sunlight

humidity

- ✓ Air-conditioned areas with poor air-circulation may be detrimental for plant health
- ✓ If your environment has higher levels of humidity, your plants will lose less water and will require less watering.
